SPOKEN TUTORIALS PROJECT

The Spoken Tutorials project, in collaboration with IIT-Bombay, has been implemented at the university with the aim to benefit the students so as to support excellence and innovation in academic programs.

The activities related to Spoken Tutorials Project for the 2016-17 (Odd Semester) have been completed successfully at the university. Successful implementation has been possible due the dedicated work of the Faculty Coordinators with the active support of the Directors, Deans, and HODs who encouraged the respective faculty coordinators to contribute enthusiastically towards the project. A brief information about the project and photographs of the activities of Odd Semester have been uploaded on the university website.

Since the activities related to the project for the 2016-17 (Even Semester) are to be initiated, the Faculty Coordinators are requested to orient and inform students about the FOSS tutorials and distribute them. The details of the tutorials and course mapping, and other relevant information will be sent in a separate email to all the faculty coordinators.

The tutorials will be helpful for the students in improving their IT skills, and increase their employment potential. In case of any problems or difficulties, the students should be encouraged to contact their respective faculty coordinators.
